

Plexxikon

Henry Hsu, M.D.

Acting Chief Medical Officer

Dr. Hsu joined the Plexxikon team in May 2013. He brings extensive experience building and leading clinical research groups, and managing drug development programs from first-in-human to NDA approval across multiple therapeutic areas. Dr. Hsu was most recently the chief executive officer, co-founder and chief medical officer of Altheos, Inc., where he helped raise over $32 million, led business development negotiations and advanced the company's lead compound to the clinic. Prior to that, Dr. Hsu served as chief medical officer of Molecular Partners and as senior clinical advisor to Index Ventures. He has also held various chief medical officer and clinical research positions of increasing responsibility at CoMentis, Co-Therix, Intermune and Chiron. Dr. Hsu received his medical degree from the University of California, San Francisco, and completed his residency at the University of California, Davis in internal medicine, where he also served as Chief Medical Resident. He subsequently completed a fellowship in gastroenterology/hepatology and a post-doctorate research fellowship at Stanford University Medical Center.